About Us

The food startup Spontainable, based in Heidelberg, declares war on plastic and offers a sustainable spoon alternative with its edible spoon "Spoonie". The company's name, which is made up of the two words spoon and sustainable, makes it clear that sustainability is the top priority.

Spontainable is 100% biodegradable. But, better than that, our spoons come in a range of flavours to complement sweet and savoury catering. Our edible spoons are vegan and won't compromise the flavour of your dish until you decide to take a bite.

Spontainable spoons hold their integrity for up to one hour in cold food products. Our spoons are a big talking point, adding a 'little something extra' to your delicious serve.
